

JAPAN PROPOSED NEUTRAL BRITAIN

Viscount Kato Sheds Light on Treaty Clause Referring to U. S.-Nippon Disputes.

TOKIO, August 7.—Viscount Kato, formerly ambassador to England, in a recent interview declared that although the arbitration treaty between England and the United States was not ratified by the Senate and the result aimed at unaccomplished, that it was Japan who proposed the insertion of a clause in the Anglo-Japanese alliance which would remove the risk of England's becoming involved in a dispute between the United States and Japan.

The clause referred to in article IV of the alliance, which provides that, should either party conclude a treaty of general arbitration with a third power, it is agreed that nothing in the agreement should impose an obligation to go to war with the power with whom such an arbitration treaty is in force.

Tokio Diplomats Disagree.

A difference of opinion appears to exist in Tokyo diplomatic circles as to the actual scope of the British-American arbitration treaty. The treaty actually in force is the so-called Bryan treaty, which was signed in 1914. Its aim is to advance the cause of general peace, and it provides that all disputes of every nature shall be referred to a permanent arbitration commission which has at least a year to study the dispute at issue. The parties reserve the right to act independently on the subject-matter of the dispute after the report has been submitted, but agree not to engage in hostilities before the commission has made its report.

The Bryan treaty was to continue for five years, but remains in force until twelve months after one of the contracting parties has given notice of an intention to terminate it. Unless denounced, the treaty is therefore without limit of duration. American opinion apparently regards this as a permanent arbitration agreement.

Fail to Push U. S. Treaty.

It is learned here that Japan was approached by the United States concerning the signing of a similar agreement. Viscount Kato, who was foreign minister, expressed Japan's desire for permanent peace with the United States, but the Japanese government has never followed up the official suggestion of the United States government to arrange a treaty.

One treaty concerning arbitration already exists between Japan and the United States. It was signed in 1903, renewed in 1913, and in 1918 was extended to 1923. This agreement refers only to differences which may arise of a legal nature or relating to the interpretation of treaties existing between the contracting parties. Such matters are to be submitted to the permanent Hague tribunal.

In the course of the interview above referred to Viscount Kato admitted that he could name no specific object to be accomplished by the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, but he thought its renewal would be an act of prudence on the part of both nations.

"It has been in existence for twenty years," he said, "and it has been useful for both countries. If it is not renewed the position will not be the same if it had never been made. The tendency will be for the two countries to drift apart."

One-third of the twenty-seven Presidents of the United States, including nearly all those who achieved wide fame and popularity, were inaugurated on Mondays.

GOMPERS ASSAILS NON-UNION SHOPS

Federation Head Writes of Labor, Democracy and Autocracy.

"The synonyms for 'union shop' and 'non-union shop' respectively, are 'democracy' and 'autocracy,'" according to President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, in the editorial columns of the current issue of the Federationist, official organ of the federation, making public the stand of labor on the "open" shop proposition, which was introduced recently after a referendum by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"In the union shop," writes Mr. Gompers, "the workers are free men. They have the right of organizing in trade unions and to bargain collectively with their employers through representatives of their own choosing.

"Like Cogs in Machine." "Employees in the non-union shop are like cogs in a machine. They have nothing to say as to the conditions under which they will work, but must accept any wages, hours and working conditions that may be fixed arbitrarily by the employer.

"A non-union man who accepts employment in a union shop has the privilege of joining the union, which has voice in determining with employers the wages, hours and conditions of work. He is given time in which to make application, if he so desires.

"No union man, if known, is permitted by the employers to work in a non-union shop.

"Most relentless propaganda has

First Frog Meat Finds Place On Menus of Tokio

TOKIO, August 7.—Frog meat made its first appearance last month in the menu of one of the city's popular restaurants.

Frogs had never been considered as a food until very recently by the Japanese. In 1918 Dr. Watanabe brought some edible frogs from the United States. They were kept at the infectious disease experimental station, where experiments were made in breeding and raising. The government has taken steps to encourage the raising and eating of frogs.

been used to discredit the union shop and to hold up to the public the great benefits of the non-union shop. No more malicious misrepresentation of a desirable condition in industry was ever launched. It began in the early 1900's when a number of associations were formed to destroy the trade union movement. Lawyers were employed to travel about the country, delivering addresses, all of which were confined to denunciation of labor organizations. The most venomous charges were made against them.

"When labor sought the enactment of laws providing for compulsory education, it was such men who fought them most violently. They believed if the children of the workers were permitted to go to school that when they grew up they would be better conditioned of employment than their fathers. It is for the same reason they have been and are now demanding the non-union shop."

Cannot Be Displaced.

The guard will be paid according to the rank the various officers held under the old government, according to an official agreement. Gen. Eugenio Martinez made public here.

According to the agreement signed July 28, Villa gave his "word of honor" never to fight against the constitutional government or against Mexico, and Martinez gave his word of honor that the conditions agreed upon would be complied with strictly.

The agreement creates in Mexico a situation paralleling that resulting in the United States from the Indian settlements.

"Villa, in surrender, is as independent as ever. Federal agents, for days following his ascent to the surrender agreement, were unadvised as to his whereabouts. That gave rise to many rumors the surrender had not occurred and that Villa had tricked the government.

Inspectors Remove Beverages Worth $40,000 From Ship.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., August 7.—Provincial license inspectors today removed from the Montreal steamer Samuel Marshall more than 1,000 cases of American and Canadian whisky and gin, valued at between $35,000 and $40,000.

The vessel, seized by the Canadian officials last night at Cardinal, Ont., on a charge of violating the Canadian customs laws, today was taken to Prescott, Ont.

It was on route from Montreal to Lake Ontario ports when it was held up. Its owners tonight were arranging to furnish bonds for its release.

LIFETIME GUARD GRANTED TO VILLA

Fifty of Trusted Followers, at Big Estate, Will Be Paid by Mexico.

SAN PEDRO, Coahuila, Mexico, August 6, via Laredo Junction (by the Associated Press).—Under terms of his "unconditional" surrender, Francisco Villa, Mexican bandit leader, will get a huge estate at Canutillo, Durango, where he will be guarded for the remainder of his life with fifty of his trusted followers, who will be paid by the government. It was learned here today.

Villa's surrender will cost the Mexican government $2,000,000 gold, according to estimates.

Traveling Over Desert.

With 900 officers and men, he is en route over the desert to San Pedro from Cuatro Ciénegas, for final arrangements for his surrender and the disarming of his force.

He will reach here Monday and then march to Gomez Palacio, where his men will be disarmed and receive a year's pay prior to being given farms where the men themselves designate their future homes. Part of them will be in the northern tier of states.

Villa has spies in every Mexican town and hamlet, and these are en route to Gomez Palacio to share in the surrender terms.

Among his most trusted officers, cannot be displaced.

He will be paid according to the rank the various officers held under the old government, according to an official agreement. Gen. Eugenio Martinez made public here.

BY THE FAMILY.

BRANDON. In loving remembrance of our dear daughter, LOTTIE MAY BRANDON (nee Halpern), who departed this life three years ago today, August 8, 1917.

Three years ago you left me;
Lonely is my heart today;
For you who smiled to cheer me
Have forever passed away.

Home at rest, so sweetly sleeping,
In thy Saviour's tender arms,
Where there is no pain or sorrow,
This world would seem a barren land.

HER DEVOTED FATHER AND MOTHER.

BRANDON. In loving remembrance of my dear wife, LOTTIE MAY BRANDON, who departed this life three years ago today, August 8, 1917.

It is sweet to know we will meet again
Where parting is no more,
And that the one I love so dearly
Has only gone before.

HER HUSBAND, VAL N. BRANDON.

BRANDON. In loving remembrance of my dear sister, LOTTIE MAY BRANDON, who departed this life three years ago today, August 8, 1917.

Where an angel's voice is singing,
Where no more pain or sorrow,
I shall meet my darling sister
In that bright, eternal home.

Off I think of you, dear sister,
And my heart is sad with pain;
This world would seem a barren land,
If I did not hear your voice again.

HER DEVOTED FATHER AND MOTHER.

BRANDON. In loving remembrance of my dear daughter, LOTTIE MAY BRANDON, who departed this life three years ago today, August 8, 1917.

Twelve long, sad years have passed away
Since we last said farewell;
The loneliness I feel today
No human tongue can tell.

Rest on, dear daughter, I will meet you
In that world where
God only knows my feelings
And my mother, ALMA BRANDON, who departed this life one year ago today, August 8, 1919.

I can never forget you, dear mother.
While in this world I stay
God only knows my feelings
And my mother, ALMA BRANDON, who departed this life one year ago today, August 8, 1919.

HER DEVOTED DAUGHTER, ADDIE B.

LOVE. In sad and loving memory of my devoted husband, SILAS L. LOVE, who was laid to rest in the Congressional cemetery three years ago today, August 8, 1917.

A voice at midnight came,
He started and turned his frame,
A mortal wound had pierced his heart,
He fell, but felt no pain.

HIS WIFE, MARY B. LOVE.

MOORE. In loving remembrance of my father, BENJAMIN F. MOORE, who departed this life three years ago today, August 8, 1917.

Gone, but not forgotten.

HIS CHILDREN.

MORTIMER. In sad memory of my father, who died thirteen years ago, August 8, 1907, and father, who died twelve years ago, August 10, 1908.

Gone, but not forgotten.
